I. PURPOSE

The Mesa County Joint Information Center (JIC) is a physical location where public information officers from organizations involved in incident management activities, utilize the National Incident Management System (NIMS) to work together in conjunction with the Emergency Operation Center (EOC) and/or the incident commander to provide critical emergency information, crisis communications, and public affairs support. The Mesa County JIC serves as a focal point for the gathering, verifying, coordinating and disseminating of information to the public and media concerning incident response, recovery, and mitigation. The Mesa County JIC structure is designed to work equally well for large or small situations and can expand or contract to meet the needs of the incident. The Mesa County Communications Officers Association (MCCOA) will be available for staffing and managing the JIC. The goal of the JIC is to “get the right information to the right people at the right time.”

II. SCOPE

The Mesa County Joint Information Center/System (JIC/JIS) will be established in conjunction with the Mesa County Emergency Operations Center (EOC).

Under the Incident Command/Unified Command System (ICS/UCS), the JIC is led by the Lead Public Information Officer (Lead PIO) whose jurisdiction has authority for the incident. The Lead PIO has four primary responsibilities:

- To gather and analyze incident data. This involves understanding how an ICS/UCS operates and developing an effective method for obtaining up-to-date information from appropriate ICS/UCS Sections.
- To verify information. That is, to serve as the source of accurate and comprehensive information about the incident and the response to a specific set of audiences.
- To coordinate a consistent message for each incident. This involves employing techniques for obtaining community feedback to provide response agencies with insight into community information needs.
- To disseminate the information to the public. The JIC will use various communication methods to meet the goals of timeliness and effectiveness.

The Lead PIO is also responsible for ensuring effective information flow and meets the expectations of various audiences when multiple organizations come together to respond to an emergency or to manage an event. The Mesa County JIC/JIS is a centralized “communication hub” that serves to achieve communication goals of the incident.

III. PRE-INCIDENT ACTIVITIES

A. Communication Strategy

A list of media agencies should be established and maintained to ensure contact information is available for the incident (Appendix A).

It is critical to identify the types of information delivery systems to the public and to use the best strategy to meet the needs of the incident. Understanding media deadlines is critical for proper JIC function. Listed below are types of delivery systems:

- Radio
- Television
- Newspapers
- Newsletters
- Town Meetings
- Information to Emergency Shelters
- News Conferences
- Internet Postings
- Emergency Alert System

Timeliness, accuracy, and knowledge of the incident assure that the media will recognize the JIC/JIS as the source of information for the incident.

Allowing the media access to visual images, providing a location for interviews, and providing a spokesperson to get the message out is critical to success of the operation.

B. JIC/JIS Needs

1. Facilities

The JIC will be located at the Mesa County Sheriff's Office in conjunction with—and in close proximity to—the EOC. The briefing room has been identified as the main work area for the JIC. In the event the Sheriff's Office is unavailable, the location of the JIC will be determined at the time of activation and should always be closely located to the EOC for coordination.

2. Equipment and Supplies

Each PIO should have ready access to a go-kit. This kit should contain tools and resources that will help the PIO complete his/her job.

Attached is a list of items that should be found in each individual PIO's go-kit (Appendix D).

In addition to individual go-kits, there are a number of shared resources needed to operate the Mesa County JIC. This list of JIC supplies and equipment is also attached (Appendix D).

C. Plan Development and Maintenance

Responsibility for the Mesa County JIC/JIS Plan—including its appendices, checklists and notifications lists—lies with the Mesa County Communications Officers Association JIC/JIS subcommittee. The plan shall be maintained and kept current on the following schedule:

1. Review and update the Mesa County JIC/JIS Plan and its appendices every three years.
2. Resource inventories/database lists and checklists should be reviewed and updated annually.
3. Verify notification lists every six months and submit any changes to the Grand Junction Regional Communications Center (GJRCC).

D. Training

1. JIC Staff

- a) PIOs staffing the JIC should complete the National Incident Management System IS-702 course on Public Information Systems. The course is available online at: www.training.fema.gov.
- b) PIOs staffing the JIC/JIS should be familiar with the Mesa County JIC/JIS Plan. To ensure knowledge of the plan, the MCCOA will schedule annual trainings to acquaint the group's members with the JIC/JIS concepts and the Mesa County JIC/JIS Plan.

2. Media

- a) The MCCOA will schedule annual meetings with the News Managers at local media outlets. This time will be used to familiarize them with the JIC/JIS concepts and the Mesa County JIC/JIS Plan, as well as phone numbers and websites where they will be able to find emergency information when the JIC is in operation.

- b) The MCCOA can schedule larger newsroom trainings with the news managers to acquaint their full staffs with JIC operations and procedures.

E. Exercise Schedule

The Exercise Schedule will consist of:

1. Notification tests conducted semi-annually through the GJRCC for the members of the MCCOA.
2. Tabletop exercise completed annually for members of the MCCOA.
3. Participation as a JIC/JIS component in functional and full-scale emergency exercises as developed.

IV. PROCEDURES

A. Activation

The Mesa County Emergency Management Director or designee will make the initial decision to activate the Joint Information Center during a large-scale emergency or disaster affecting Mesa County. At this time a formal request will be made to the GJRCC to activate the MCCOA.

Under the JIC concept, each agency representative has the commitment to share and coordinate information with all other participating agencies and the Emergency Operations Center prior to its release to the media and public. The primary benefit to this concept is that the public receives accurate, timely, and coordinated emergency information.

When activation of the Joint Information Center is warranted, it shall be housed in conjunction with the Emergency Operations Center, (location designated at time of activation). If there are multiple agencies with jurisdictional authority, a unified approach should be utilized when possible.

During the initial stages of the emergency, it is anticipated the JIC will operate in 12 hour shifts, 24 hours per day, until the Information Officer assigned to the incident determines it is no longer necessary.

1. Staff Notification Procedure

MCCOA may be activated to support ongoing information requirements for a specific jurisdiction during any incident as needed, or may be activated to staff the Mesa County JIC during an incident.

If activated to support incident information management, a request may come from the Incident Commander, or the PIO assigned to the incident. The request is made to the GJRCC to notify the MCCOA using the group call down list located in the dispatch center. Upon notification, the GJRCC will instruct the PIOs where to respond and to whom they should report to upon arrival. Public Information Officers are required to notify GJRCC of their availability to respond to the request and give their expected time of arrival on scene. In this situation, the Lead PIO will be the Information Officer whose agency has statutory authority for the incident.

2. Levels of Notification

The MCCOA has been divided into two groups: initial responders (Tier 1) and backup support (Tier 2). Contact information is available for both groups (Appendix C). Based on the size and type of the incident, the initial PIO responding may decide to activate a specific portion of the Tier 1 list.

Tier 1 – In the event of a major incident, Tier 1 shall be the first group to be activated:

- PIO, MCSO
- PIO, GJPD
- PIO, GJFD
- Communications & Community Relations Coordinator, City of Grand Junction
- Public Relations Director, Mesa County
- PIO, Mesa County Health Department
- Communications Services Coordinator, School District #51
- Information & Referral Specialist, 2-1-1
- Area Manager/Community & Local Affairs, Xcel Energy
- PIO, City of Grand Junction Public Works
- PIO, Division of Wildlife
- PIO, Mesa County Human Services
- PIO, Fruita PD
- PIO, St. Mary's Hospital

Tier 2 –Tier 2 would be notified only if the incident reaches such a scale that additional PIO involvement is required to support the Tier 1 group. Backup Notification - includes remaining members of the MCCOA.

Additional News Conference Tips

When to Hold a Press Conference

There are times when a press conference or media event is the best way to broadly deliver important information about your program to the press. They offer the potential for reaching multiple reporters from the broadcast, print, and trade press at a single event. Press conferences can be efficient and exciting. They heighten interest in the story and may even reinforce the natural competitiveness of the press, increasing the prospects of your story being covered. Consider the following points in deciding if you should hold a press conference:

- Is your story newsworthy, timely, and of interest to news-reporting organizations?

- Are there alternative means of delivering your message that would be equally or more effective?
- Does the press conference offer reporters special advantages, such as interesting visuals and hearing directly from experts, key officials, and other important figures?

Successful press conferences invariably involve a great deal of staff time and should not be undertaken without good reason. Even with a strong topic and story, it is not easy to secure press attendance

How to Prepare Your Spokesperson for the Event

It is good practice to have a primary spokesperson for your issue. That person should be well prepared for the event and ready to answer reporters' questions. To help your spokesperson:

- Develop a brief statement – under 10 minutes is a good rule-of-thumb – and a set of “talking points” that focus on your key messages.
- Consider using visual aids such as poster-size charts or overheads. If you produce visuals, they should be clear and easily understood, and visible from any point in the press area.
- Anticipate questions and prepare clear, brief answers.
- Provide the statement, “talking points,” and Q&As to your spokesperson and anyone else who might be answering questions. (Note: Do not distribute talking points or Q&As; they are for internal use only.)
- Schedule a rehearsal. You may want to have several people there to give it the feel of the actual event, and you may want to videotape it to assess and improve the presentation.
- Decide how questions will be handled. If more than one person is involved in the presentation, it is a good idea to have a moderator who is knowledgeable about the participants and can call on the best person to answer each question.

Before the News Conference

Find credible spokespersons who will work with PIO/JIC to develop key messages.

Choose an appropriate date for the press conference. Make sure your conference doesn't coincide with another news conference or community event.

Choose a convenient time for the press. The best time to schedule a news conference is 10:00 a.m. This allows time in the morning for the assignment editor to review the story options for the day and to assign a reporter to your event. Remember, TV and radio producers need time to edit the story for broadcast, and newspaper reporters need time to write. That's why the morning hours are preferable.

Identify a site for your news conference. Consider parking, security, and photo op needs. Remember that TV tells its story in pictures, so make your site as visually appealing as possible.

Write a media advisory using the "who, what, where, when and why" basics. Keep it brief — a media advisory is not a press release. Include crucial information such as directions, a map, where to enter the building, parking instructions, and what will be addressed at the news conference.

Fax and/or email the media advisory to your list of journalists. Fax it as early as two days before the event, then follow up with a phone call to confirm that it has been received by each newsroom. Fax it again the day before and the morning of the event. Be vigilant about making follow-up calls to sell your story to the assignment editor.

Have your materials prepared and ready to be distributed to the attendees. You should include a press release, a fact sheet and/or brochures, information on your organization, photos, graphs, charts.

Have the site of the conference well prepared. Post signs or other visuals in advance, if possible. Also, post directional signs to guide journalists to the site.

The Day of the Press Conference

Review your logistics and the instructions above. Arrive at least an hour ahead of time if possible.

Meet members of the press as they arrive. Take down their names and phone numbers and give each of them a press kit, agenda, general information and a press release.

Start the news conference no later than five minutes after the announced time. Have the speakers present and allow some time for questions and answers. Have the PIO facilitate the Q and A session.

G. Deactivation

1. The Lead PIO, with the concurrence of participating agencies, will jointly decide to deactivate the JIC. All members of the JIC should be alerted. The Lead PIO will issue a news release stating the JIC is no longer operational. However, information regarding the incident can continue to be released through the Joint Information System. A contact person should be assigned for subsequent media requests.
2. Within 72 hours of deactivation, JIC staff will participate in a critique of JIC operations and submit comments to the Lead PIO. Upon deactivation, the Lead PIO will direct JIC staff to, at a minimum:
 - a) Ensure all equipment and personnel are returned to pre-emergency position.
 - b) Ensure all generated information is given to JIC Manager for documentation.
 - c) Coordinate the critique of response actions and ensure the following are addressed:
 - Inoperable equipment
 - Procedural inadequacy
 - Clarity of policies
 - Notification difficulties
 - Other lessons learned
 - d) In analyzing performance of the JIC, the following questions may be helpful:
 - How quickly/smoothly did you activate the JIC?

- Did people get the right information?
- Was the information that was disseminated accurate?
- Was it easy to understand?
- Was it timely?
- Did the right people get the information?
- Were there any miscommunications/confusion?
- Did you work effectively with the news media?

e) In analyzing the internal operations of the JIC, the following questions may be helpful:

- Did you have the equipment you needed?
- What were you lacking?
- Did you have the information you needed?
- Did the approval process work?
- Did you feel your skills were utilized?

JIC participants will likely want to take time to review the JIC’s work products and other documentation such as: media contact logs, news clips, videos, news releases, talking points, news conference agendas, flyers, etc.

They heighten interest in the story and may even reinforce the natural competitiveness of the press, increasing the prospects of your story being covered. Consider the following points in deciding if you should hold a press conference:

- Is your story newsworthy, timely, and of interest to news-reporting organizations?
- Are there alternative means of delivering your message that would be equally or more effective?
- Does the press conference offer reporters special advantages, such as interesting visuals and hearing directly from experts, key officials, and other important figures?

Successful press conferences invariably involve a great deal of staff time and should not be undertaken without good reason. Even with a strong topic and story, it is not easy to secure press attendance

How to Prepare Your Spokesperson for the Event

It is good practice to have a primary spokesperson for your issue. That person should be well prepared for the event and ready to answer reporters' questions. To help your spokesperson:

- Develop a brief statement – under 10 minutes is a good rule-of-thumb – and a set of “talking points” that focus on your key messages.
- Consider using visual aids such as poster-size charts or overheads. If you produce visuals, they should be clear and easily understood, and visible from any point in the press area.
- Anticipate questions and prepare clear, brief answers.
- Provide the statement, “talking points,” and Q&As to your spokesperson and anyone else who might be answering questions. (Note: Do not disturb talking points or Q&As; they are for internal use only.)
- Schedule a rehearsal. You may want to have several people there to give it the feel of the actual event, and you may want to videotape it to assess and improve the presentation.
- Decide how questions will be handled. If more than one person is involved in the presentation, it is a good idea to have a moderator who is knowledgeable about the participants and can call on the best person to answer each question.

Before the News Conference

- Find credible spokespersons who will work with PIO/JIC to develop key messages.
- Choose an appropriate date for the press conference. Make sure your conference doesn't coincide with another news conference or community event.
- Choose a convenient time for the press. The best time to schedule a news conference is 10:00 a.m. This allows time in the morning for the assignment editor to review the story options for the day and to assign a reporter to your event. Remember, TV and radio producers need time to edit the story for broadcast, and newspaper reporters need time to write. That's why the morning hours are preferable.
- Identify a site for your news conference. Consider parking, security, and photo op needs. Remember that TV tells its story in pictures, so make your site as visually appealing as possible.
- Write a media advisory using the "who, what, where, when and why" basics. Keep it brief — a media advisory is not a press release. Include crucial information such as directions, a map, where to enter the building, parking instructions, and what will be addressed at the news conference.

- Fax and/or email the media advisory to your list of journalists. Fax it as early as two days before the event, then follow up with a phone call to confirm that it has been received by each newsroom. Fax it again the day before and the morning of the event. Be vigilant about making follow-up calls to sell your story to the assignment editor.
- Have your materials prepared and ready to be distributed to the attendees. You should include a press release, a fact sheet and/or brochures, information on your organization, photos, graphs, charts.
- Have the site of the conference well prepared. Post signs or other visuals in advance, if possible. Also, post directional signs to guide journalists to the site.

The Day of the Press Conference

- Review your logistics and the instructions above. Arrive at least an hour ahead of time if possible.
- Meet members of the press as they arrive. Take down their names and phone numbers and give each of them a press kit, agenda, general information and a press release.
- Start the news conference no later than five minutes after the announced time. Have the speakers present and allow some time for questions and answers. Have the PIO facilitate the Q and A session.

TOWN MEETING CHECKLIST

The following checklist should be used in setting up town meetings. Personnel from several units of the JIC (e.g., Lead PIO, Research, Logistics) will play some role in conducting this activity. Risk communication principles note exhibit hall-type town meetings are far more successful than traditional question and answer-type sessions. The PIO Assistant, with input from others, should coordinate for displays, as well as speakers to staff them. The media should be invited to town meetings.

1. Select the appropriate time for the exhibit/town meeting.

NOTE: The end of the working day is best, although this may conflict with media newscasts. Tuesday and Thursday have proven to generate greater attendance.

2. Select an appropriate meeting format, i.e., open house, audio/visual presentation, panel discussion.

3. Select and schedule an appropriate location.

NOTE: The location should be easily accessible, with plenty of parking, power and minimal background noise. Provide signage to the specific room.

4. Notify the community of the event with adequate advance notice.

5. Set up exhibits, schedule and conduct speaker preparation and give any assistance with materials for exhibits.

1. Appoint a town meeting moderator, usually the Lead PIO.

C. Purpose

Incidents within Mesa County and Municipalities require a standardized management system. All agencies and political subdivisions who participate in the MCCOA, agree to utilize the National Incident Management System for all multi-agency and/or multi-jurisdictional incidents to the varying degree possible.

The Mesa County Joint Information Center (JIC) is a physical location where public affairs professionals from organizations in incident management activities work together in conjunction with the Emergency Operation Center (EOC) and or the Incident Commander to provide critical emergency information, crisis communications, and public affairs support. The Mesa County JIC serves as a focal point for the gathering, verifying, coordinating, and disseminating of information to the public and media concerning incident response, recovery, and mitigation. The Mesa County JIS structure is designed to work equally well for small and large situations and can expand or contract to meet the needs of the incident. The MCCOA will be available for staffing and managing the JIC. The goal of the JIC is to "Get the right information to the right people at the right time."
